WE NOMINATE

The 70 scientists, engineers and professional specialists, drawn from all sections of the country and including a half-dozen Princetonians, who are gathered here at the University's Graduate College for a highly significant two-week seminar on the broad subject of "Research Planning and Management". Sponsored by the Office of Naval Research, with the Princeton-based Naval Reserve Research Company 4-I shouldering the administrative burdens, the current seminar marks the first time that reserve components of the Armed Forces have wrestled with the problems posed by the planning and managerial aspects of a mushrooming, and major, industry of the 20th Century — organized research.

The sessions, which opened this past Monday morning with an appropriate display of civilian and military "brass," were largely conceived by the 30-plus members of Company 4-I, brought into being 11 years ago as a "plank unit" in the Naval Research Reserve. At once, the Chiefs of Naval Reserve warmly endorsed the proposal to broaden the conceptions of military research administrators, added the seminar to their Active-Duty-for-Training Program, and invited representatives of the other Services to combine forces here at the Graduate College for a fortnight.

Indicative of the scope of the two-week program was the initial "pick-and-shovel" meeting at which two of the three principal speakers were Princetonians, currently serving the nation in Washington in key policy-making posts in research and development. "The Organization for Research and Development in the Navy" was the topic of James H. Wakelin, formerly an active member of Company 4-I and now Assistant Secretary for the Navy, while "Air Force Research and Development" was the responsibility of Assistant Secretary Courtland D. Perkins, on leave from his normal duties as Chairman of Princeton University's Department of Aeronautical Engineering.

The challenge to the seminar participants, including 11 Army reservists as well as 10 members of the Air Force Reserve, was sounded by Rear Admiral Rawson Bennett, who warned: "You will receive a comprehensive review of the major problems affecting the military services and other government agencies and also the university, the non-profit research laboratory and the industrial research organization."

Five members of Company 4-I, together with physicist Herman L. Miller, one of the Air Force delegates, represent Princeton's active participation in the seminar which lists day-long inspection tours of the James Forrestal Research Center and the U.S. Army's Signal Research and Development Laboratory at Fort Monmouth. Captains Richard W. Baker Jr. and Edmund S. DeLong speak for the spheres of business administration and public relations, respectively, with Captain Herman M. Gurin, Captain Harry H. Hess and Lt. Commander T. Todd Rebound serving (in order) as standard-bearers in engineering, geology (or volcanology), and physics.

For seeking to raise ever higher the administrative standards of the country's Armed Forces; for facing up to the possibility that men of science may once again be called upon for "active duty"; for looking to the future—and never to the past; these men are our nominees for Princeton's

FANTASYLAND
Or, a Peek into the Future.
It has been brought to the attention of TOWN TOPICS personnel in recent weeks that a feature of considerable and continuing interest is Ten Years Ago, presented each Thursday
the tail-end of the paper's Round-Up column. Of course, some discussion results when portions of Ten Years Ago "jump" to back pages of a particular issue and become associated with current events, but this development has tended to attract rather than detract readers.

There is a worthy case in point regarding the woman who read one of these "jump" portions of Ten Years Ago and, on spying an acquaintance while marketing remarked, "Did you notice in TOWN TOPICS that Mrs. X had twins?" Her occasionally observant friend replied, "No, but I thought she'd been putting on a lot of weight." (And to think,
Mrs. X may have nothing but 10-year-olds around the house and visions of slenderness in mind!)

This week, just for the summer fun of it, TOWN TOPICS will offer herewith a brand-new feature, Ten Years From Now. Such an adventure in journalism represents no easy task, so this may well be the last as well as first number of Ten Years From

Andy 'Dandy'; Ann—'Man!'

Until the New York Times Book Review revealed the fact this past Sunday, few persons—including Princetonians—knew that Howard Cox of Princeton Junction has controlled the lives of Raggedy
Ann and her playmate, Rag-gedy Andy, since 1933. The matter came to light with an announcement that Bobbe-Merrill has purchased the publishing rights to the much-loved children's stories.

Mr. Cox, 68, who has been running the business from a reconstructed garage on his farm for the last year, reported that he doesn't feel like working as hard as before, so will concentrate solely on the commercial end of the Ann-Andy combine (dolls, dresses, etc.). For two decades, 1933 to 1959, he operated the enterprise out of an office in the Time-Life Building in New York.

"Enterprise" is the proper word to describe the not-soraggedy business, for some 8-000,000 copies of the Raggedy books ($2 edition) have been sold since Ann first beamed on the scene back in 1918. According to Times research,
books plus subsidiary items,
such as the aforementioned dolls and dresses, constitute an eye-catching $50,000,000 gross business.

cision: Route 206-A By-Pass, which last week diverted truck traffic for the first time in countless sleepless nights.

●Mayor Martin McQuinn of Princeton Consolidated has requested State aid for completion of construction of the TP&B (Turnpike & Back) monorail, scheduled to link Princeton's $,000 daily commuters with the new monorail system along the Turnpike. A veto is expected from Governor Raymond E. Fife because of the young mayor's GOP leanings, and the fact that Mervin has been declared officials for Consolidated employees.

●It's New to Us — those oshotastic conference suits which the English Shop is spotlighting at its Heavenly Sale this week.
They, in every color of the rainbow, are strictly Interplanetary League, you know. They were fashioned exclusively for The English Shop by a certain well-known Palmer Lab prof who visited Mars recently and cornered the market on the material, ray gun-proof at $7.75 a yard.

●Business — wise, Renwick's
Inc., liquorless Princeton landmark, has filed its 13th appeal with the ABC, protesting then-Borough Council's action of 1960
that resulted in a retail license for The King's Court. Meanwhile, Consolidated Council-Committee, using the 1970 census figures as a guide, will issue five additional off-Nassau Street licenses. As predicted, Renwick's will either object or move.

●Ken Kneiff, who returns the tradition of "alumnus coach" to the Princeton University football scene, will take charge of the Tigers (he's known as a "take-charge guy") on September 1,
when candidates for the 1970 variety zoom by superjetous to the Blairtown training camp. Kneiff was tapped by his alma mater
after single-winning Lawrenceville School's gridiron to a dozen straight undefeated seasons.

●At the Princeton Playhouse,

ROUND-UP

Around Town: In a continuing effort to make the Princeton area more appealing to light industry and research firms, West Windsor Township has rezoned approximately 1,200 acres of U.S. 1 land, formerly restricted to rural and business uses. Located west of Alexander Road, one portion of the acreage, including property from the highway to the canal, extends from Duck Pond Run to Alexander while another chunk, on the south side of U.S. 1, runs to Bear Brook to Meadow Road and back to the highway. Borough police received notification at 12:45 a.m. Sunday that teenager Donald Maddalon of 58 Leavitt Lane, reported missing from home for several days, had returned after an unscheduled visit with friends in Hightstown. Miss Phyllis Riley of the Princeton Gourmet Shop, 44 Nassau Street, informed the same police that some merchandise—a set of four glasses, a set of knives and a piece of pottery—were shoplifted from her place of business sometime last Thursday.

Affairs of State: With the number of seasonal farm workers at the yearly high point, a new record in production has been registered by New Jersey cultivated blueberry growers. Preliminary estimates, according to the Division of Markets, Department of Agriculture, indicate a 1960 crop of about 1,800,000 trays (12 pints), or 490,000 higher than last year, for one of the longest harvest seasons on record. Along the same line, an average yield per acre of 13.5 tons of tomatoes for processing, a new all-time high mark, has been forecast for 1960. New Jersey is tied for second place behind California with Ohio and Iowa in per acre yield. The State Health Department, while not endorsing swimming in the Delaware and Raritan Canal, has announced that such bathing is "safe," except near Kingston and the Weston Bridge, where slight pollution apparently exists. Asked by a weekly newspaper editor if he believes evolution should be taught in New Jersey's public schools, Governor Meyner this week replied, "I am completely in favor of teaching sciences. If modern science teaching includes the theory of evolution, I am in favor of it."

Ten Years Ago: TOWN TOPICS, August 21, 1950—It seemed to be statistical summertime in Princeton...counterfeit $20 bills, circulating throughout Mercer County, were in evidence here, and close inspection indicated their phonyness, since all carried the same serial number. Trenton barbers said they were considering hiking the price of haircuts to $1, which gave rise to speculation that University undergraduates might go unshorn if Princeton clippers followed suit. Census-takers confirmed that Princeton's population was 11,865, including some 4,200 students...

THREE, STILL, "CRITICAL"

After Mercer Road accident. Three victims of an accident on Mercer Road last Saturday were still in critical condition at Princeton Hospital at mid-week. The accident, which occurred in front of Princeton Battlefield, sent a total of nine to the Hospital, three of whom have since been released.

Included among those still classed as "critical" was Mrs. Virginia Switten of 202 Moore Street, driver of one of the two cars involved. According to Township police, she was making a left turn when struck broadside by a car driven by Charles Marshall of Trenton. Mrs. Switten's auto overturned and skidded 138 feet into the force of the impact, with her four passengers, all members of a family from Hinsdale, Mich., thrown free.

Two members of the family, G. Austin Kuhns, a high school music teacher, and his 13-year old daughter, Carol, were both critically injured, with Mr. Kuhns sustaining a fractured spine and Carol, a pelvic fracture. Mrs. Kuhns, who is Mrs. Switten's sister, had a fractured wrist, rib and clavicle and was listed in fair condition. The fourth member of the family, 15-year old Robert, suffered only a concussion and was released on Sunday.

Also released after a brief stay in the hospital were the driver of the other vehicle and one of its passengers, Clarence Phelps, 19, of 293 Witherspoon Street. The other two passengers, Philip Hudson, 21, of 21 Leigh Avenue, and Ralph Dillard, 19, of Trenton, were still in the hospital, the former in fair condition and the latter, good condition.

Although police have not yet completed their investigation, they know both Mrs. Switten and Mr. Marshall were travelling towards Trenton when Mrs. Switten attempted her left turn and was hit by Mr. Marshall, who was trying to pass. No eyewitnesses have been found, but a number have testified to seeing the Marshall car travelling down Mercer Road at a high rate of speed.

Both cars were a total wreck, with Mrs. Switten's auto blocking traffic in one lane of Mercer Road for some time. Patrolmen Michael C. Koplner Jr. and Samuel List are investigating the accident.

EVIDENCE OF BAD COLLISION: This totally demolished vehicle, driven by Mrs. Virginia Switten of 202 Moore Street, was struck and overturned on Mercer Road last Saturday. The bad collision sent nine persons to Princeton Hospital, as reported in a detailed story on this page. (Staff Photo)

Other Mishaps Listed. In addition to the Mercer Road accident, four other mishaps were recorded during the week in the two Princeton municipalities. Although there were no serious injuries, extensive property damage occurred in at least two of the accidents.

In the Township, Clarence E. Housel, 43, of 153 West Franklin Avenue, Pennington, was injured and had the front end of his truck damaged when he hit a car driven by Mary W. Van Marter, 18, of the Rocky Hill Blawenburg Road, Blawenburg, at the intersection of Valley and Jefferson Roads last Thursday. Miss Van Marter suffered slight injuries and the front and side of her car were damaged. The township has been issued a summons for careless driving.

Also last Thursday, George Angeloukakis, 20, of Trenton, hit a tractor-trailer owned by Borthus Trucks, Inc., the car in the Princeton - Kingston Road in front of the Old Mill. Both vehicles were damaged seriously and Mr. Angeloukakis has been charged with failing to keep to the right.

The third mishap recorded in the Township, the only one involving only minor damage, occurred Monday morning at the corner of Quaker and Mercer Roads. R. V. Herwig, 20, of the Blawenburg/Rocky Hill Road, allegedly went through a stop sign to strike the car of Richard W. Meyer, 24, of Carnegie Drive.

In the Borough, one accident led to another as a Borough patrol car, its red light flashing and its siren on, crashed into another car on Stockton Street Monday afternoon. The patrol car was on its way to investigate an accident at Elm Road and Stockton Street.

Stopped on Stockton Street behind a truck, Alex Henley, 63, of 240 Church Street, Trenton, pulled out of the east line of traffic into the west lane and directly into the path of the patrol car driven by Harry Kahny, 26, of 29 Madison Street, according to Borough police. No one was injured although both cars were moderately damaged.

Henley was charged with passing a no-passing zone and failing to yield the right of way to an emergency vehicle. He did not carry any automobile insurance.

JOHN W. KAUFFMAN NAMED

To National Hospital Group. John W. Kauffman, Administrator of Princeton Hospital, has been elected to the Board of Regents of the American College of Hospital Administrators. It was announced this week. In making the announcement, John H. Wallace, Jr., President of the Board of Trustees at Princeton Hospital, said that Mr. Kauffman had been elected by Members and Fellows of the College from Region 4, which comprises the states of Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and the District of Columbia. Currently entering his fifteenth year as Administrator of Princeton Hospital, Mr. Kauffman has served in recent years as President of both the New Jersey Hospital Association and the Middle Atlantic Hospital Assembly. He has been active in the affairs of the College as well as the Hospital Association.

The American College of Hospital Administrators aims at elevating the standards of hospital administration, promoting standards of training and education for hospital administrators and recognizing noteworthy services and achievements in the hospital administration field. The College is

Mr. Wallace said that the Princeton Hospital Board of Trustees consider the election of Mr. Kauffman "a distinctive honor for Princeton Hospital as well as for Mr. Kauffman." He said the Board was "extremely pleased" that the administrator's outstanding service to the community and to the Hospital has been so recognized.

ODD BOOKS: So say Francis Dux (left) and Joseph Ragno, the two gangster-comics surprised into Shakespearean costumes in the University Players' production of "Kiss Me Kate" which will run through Saturday at Murray Theatre. Their dust, "Brush Up Your Shakespeare," brings down the house. Another outstanding number in the show is "It's Too Darn Hot," ably sung and danced by Curtis Hood.

News Of The THEATRES

McCARTER REFURBISHED
Major Overhaul On. This fall, McCarter audiences will be pleasantly surprised, not only with the new program to be inaugurated by the Center for the Performing Arts, but also by the physical changes which promise more comfortable and exciting theatre-going.
Directing the refurbishing is Hugh Hardy, the Center's artistic director, who is assisted by Bernard A. Cooke of the Home Furnishing Shop. McCarter has a new house curtain made by the shop, which will also furnish new draperies.

The main stage will gain a new surface, replacing the former splintery floor, and a portable auron stage is in the works, which will extend over the first two orchestra rows. The latter improvement will make possible a more "intimate" atmosphere for certain types of plays, and the actors will be able to make their entrances from the audience.

Also slated are new lighting mounts in the rafters and new side lighting rails. Those seated on the sides will no longer have the distraction of light hung on the balcony rail. An idea of the scope of the work can be seen on page 4. Interior redecoration will include improvements in the lobby.

Never-Ending Repairs. During the past three years, McCarter has been repaired to the tune of an estimated $27,000. A new roof was installed in 1957, and last fall new wall-to-wall carpeting was laid and a new red velvet curtain hung.

Mrs. E. C. Bleicher of Lawrenceville painstakingly replaced the curtain insignia (the University seal and the Triangle emblem) after cutting out the old ones and copying them in brocade and embroidery.

"Comedy in Theatre" is the title of the opening series, which includes six plays. Each will be presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, as well as Saturday afternoons, beginning October 6.

The six comedies are: Pirandello's "Right You Are," Christopher Fry's "The Lady's Not For Burning," George M. Cohan's "The Tavern," Chekhov's "The Sea Gull," a Moliere-Anatole France synthesis entitled "Doctor for a Dumb Wife," and Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest."

Reservations for the series may be made by calling McCarter, WA 1-3700, between 2 and 5 on weekdays, and tickets are on sale at the University Store. A reduction of 20% is given to those subscribing to all six plays, with prices ranging from $15 to $35.

Milt Lyon, currently directing the University Players' "Kiss Me Kate," is producer for the Center. He has produced Broadway package shows and TV spectaculars.

IT'S NEW To Us

SPLIT TICKET

Classroom Cottes. A knee-length medium wide corduroy cotelet, cut to look just like a skirt, is the favorite classroom fashion at Red Barn Casuals, on Route 206 just north of Belle Mead. We saw it in olive, but it comes in copper, too. Same colors appear in a corduroy jumper with two giant pockets in front and a line of buttons down the back.

Of course, to call these Red Barn clothes "college clothes" is to be restrictive: mothers and daughters and sisters and every-body else who likes casual wools and tweeds will wear them too, classroom or not.

For instance, there's a fall tapestry cotton by Wamsutta, fashioned in two pieces with straight skirt, short-jacket with round collar and flat brass buttons. The general color is a deep coppery brown. With it, carry a sage green leather handbag ($29), or trimmed with brass hardware. A spice brown cotton knit dress, tied in front, is done in a rib
knit with purpl side out.

Sweaters! Red Barn matches fur blend cardigan and a straight skirt, both in a warm shade of camel. The Ragamuffin is a bulky wool, polished off with a six-inch ribbed collar that has looped fringe all around the edge. It comes in every color a ragamuffin could come in.

Here's a hooded slipover sweater ($17.98) in small checks of black and lime, and a char green or char purple slipover with wide collar and four buttons down the front closing. It's wool and ma-hair.

Classic tweed reefers from England will make you wish for cold weather. Some are cut with a yoke in back, some without, but the tailored, classic style is predominant whatever the cut.
Tweeds vary in color and shade.
In this British collection there are also car coats with wide grey space collars. One really beautiful car coat is knit in a warm shade of brass, with raccoon collar.

From Scotland come tweed suits that combine pastel yarns in unusual ways. These feature a Channel jacket and straight skirts.

Men's wear grey wool appears,
of all places, on the sides of a handbag. The wool has been used with black leather for an every-day bag with facile opening. An olive and black plaid bag has a black leather belt with brass buckle, just where you'd expect a belt to be; right around the middle.

Before we close, we point out two knit dresses of note: a cotton Joseph's coat in stripes, with drawstring waist, boat neck and raglan sleeves; and a wool and cotton full-skirted dress with jewel neck and three-quarter sleeves.
It comes in cherry red or black.

HEREND FROM HUNGARY
Porcelain at Town Shop. A charming provincial set of porcelain has come to The Town Shop on Palmer Square from Herend of Hungary. The pieces—which are all in the accessory class—are white with birds painted on the sides in soft pastels and greys. It's the Rothschild bird pattern in case you collect such information.

A sugar shaker about five inches high has a porcelain rose on top and the demi-tasse pot has a yellow rose in the middle of its lid. The tall tureen has a lemon for a handle, and so have

Over The Top

The tunic that slips down over the shirt, or is worn all by itself with a contrasting or matching skirt, is the school-girl uniform for this fall.

At Red Barn Casuals on Route 206, you'll find a green and sand plaid wool tunic called a "put-over" which you wear with a matching straight skirt, or with taupe tapered slacks. The "put-over" has a zipper down the back and the sash which lies carefully in front.

Another Red Barn tunic is blue and white striped cotton sewed into a shirt which you wear, belted, over a frisky pair of copen wool knee-tickers.
When it gets cold, you cover
—not your knees but your top with a white orlon pullover that looks exactly like curly-headed lamb's wool. It has straight lines, an unadorned neckline and a slot so you can pull it on over your head.

the small tureens, which you might use for—well, for a small soup, we suppose.

Individual pieces have designs which complement the birds in various ways. Radishes, plums and nuts adorn a gravy boat.
There are some lady-bugs here and there, on casseroles, and strawberries on the jam pot.

Ashtrays are shaped like hearts, salt and pepper shakers, the candle-stick is shaped so that it can be a candelabra or a single stick.

Ask a fall bride if she'd like some pewter. Town Shop has three-inch pewter, squirrels which are really salt and pepper shakers, and branching candelabra which are really three-candle candlesticks. (High or low, in candelabra.)

Guernsey jugs and porringers are always useful pieces to have around, whether you collect pewter or not, and Town Shop has them in brushed or high finish.
A casserole in Chippendale design makes an imposing serving piece, with its three-dimensional scallop and its convex, knobbed lid. Buy the groom a glass-bottomed mug emblazoned on the side with various tavern signs.

Our favorite clock is a plexiglass sphere with a 12-jewel Swiss clock inside. Its face is gold with black Roman numerals or white with gold Arabic figures, and its whirling little works are plainly visible through the glass at the back. It belongs on a desk with or even Fort Knox, the quietest knook over five Las Vegas casinos in one daring New Year's Eve holdup, employing basically the same trick which was used to quiet things down at the Democratic National Convention.

The fast-moving, 127-minute spoof opens with Danny Ocean (Sinatra) collecting his crew from the far corners of the country to undertake the ambitious scheme. After breezing through the robbery itself, the "gangsters" make their escape in a garbage truck driven by Sammy Davis Jr., who comments as the others are blocking their faces to avoid detection. "I knew this charade would come in handy some day." From there on in it's a question of what to do with the money: in the end it proves too hot to handle.

Besides the basic plot, "Ocean's 11" offers authentic shots of shows at the Desert Inn, Sands, Flamingo, Riviera and Sahara, hotels; a song, "E-O Eleven," by Sammy Davis Jr., and another; "Ain't that a Kick in the Head," by Dean Martin; and brief appearances by Red Skelton, George Ruff and Shirley MacLaine. Backing up the basic five are Richard Conte, Angela Dickinson, Cesar Romero, Ika Chase, Akim Tamiroff, Henry Silva, Buddy Lester and Patrice Wymore. Based on a story by Clayton Johnson and Jack Golden Russell "Ocean's 11" was written for the screen by Harry Brown and Charles Lederer and directed and produced by Lewis Milestone. In Technicolor and Panavision. Recommended.

RAYBURN REAPPEARS

At Bucks Playhouse. For the fourth time Gene Rayburn, popular television personality, will be back on the stage of the Bucks County Playhouse when he opens there next Tuesday evening in "Come Blow Your Horn." The Bucks regular, supported by a fine cast, will remain for a two-week engagement.

"Born" is a modern comedy about a bachelor and his younger brother. In the sophisticated world of the bachelor, his apartment and address book are the passports to social success. He does not quite approve of the same philosophy for his younger brother who comes to live with him and who learns the ways of the world and his older brother.

Brother is played by Warren Berlinger, who scored well on Broadway and Hollywood in "Annie Hall" and "Blue Denim." "Lovely Georgann Johnson is the only thread that the bachelor cannot weave into his tapestry design for living and loving.

OPENINGS AVAILABLE

At Nassau Nursery School. Parents with children 3 and 4 years old may enter them in the Nassau Cooperative Nursery School, which will begin its second year October 3. Classes will be held at the Friends First Day School.

Those interested in obtaining further information should call Mrs. Raymond Male, 76 Cedar Lane, WA 4-2286.

COMMITTEE DOUBLES-UP

Township Tries to Save Time. In an effort to get construction under way as soon as possible, the Township Committee will both hold public hearings and receive bids on four projects at its meeting next Monday night. Although it has employed the same session, hearings-and-bid trick in the past, the Committee has never resorted to it on such a large scale.

Projects receiving this rush treatment include two sewer lines and two road construction jobs. The sewers are for portions of Prospect Avenue and Mountain Avenue, while the road construction covers White Pine Lane and portions of Pretty Brook Road.

Also on the agenda are hearings on ordinances to permit a cemetery at All Saints' Chapel of Trinity Church, to vacate and accept portions of Pretty Brook Road into the Township roads system; and to provide $2500 for consultants on the financing of the Township's Sewer Master Plan and on performance standards for light industry.

The Committee will hear a petition for a street light at the corner of Western Way, Southern Way and Cedar Lane at the same time. Finally, it will introduce an ordinance to widen, curb and sidewalk Franklin Avenue between Snowden Lane and Tee Ar Place.

FINAL CONCERT SET

By Community Band. The final concert of the current summer season will be offered by the Princeton Community Band this Friday night at 7 on the steps of Nassau Hall on the Princeton campus.

The program includes Samuel Barber's "Cordell's March," Aaron Copland's "Outdoor Overture," Gustav Holst's "First Suite in E Flat," "Tournament of Trumpets" by Robert Russell Bennett and "Serenata" by Leroy Anderson. In the event of rain the concert will be postponed until Monday, August 20.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT: As indicated by the numerals inscribed on this "amazing" photo, it was 5:15 (p.m. that is) on a weekday at the busiest intersection — Nassau Street at Palmer Square — in Princeton. Granted, it was late August and many residents were out of town vacationing, but it was also 1960 — and people had come to think of Princeton as a "jumpin' place, no matter what time of year. Borough police reported smooth traffic flows, few tie-ups at all hours. (Fred Porter Photo)

"READY IN TIME FOR RUTGERS TRAFFIC": That was the University-pleasing prediction this week of Borough Engineer Arthur Brokaw as he surveyed work on the long-missing link of Prospect Avenue Extension which will put Princeton-Kingston Road within easier reach of Palmer Stadium. The annual Princeton-Rutgers football game will be played here September 24 and, "despite three delaying rains, the new road will be ready." The latest of these rains caused the large puddle (foreground, near Riverside Drive), but it was pumped out and the roadbed leveled by Tuesday. Curbing (visible at Cedar Lane end of link) has been installed halfway, while work on sidewalks also has commenced. With a contract deadline of October 1, J. Vinch & Sons of Trenton has succeeded in progressing ahead of schedule. (Fred Porter Photo)

cial interest clubs such as the adventure, archery and radion clubs; camping trips; physical education projects for boys; and the midget baseball lead.

A graduate of Trenton State Teacher's College with additional course credit at Rutgers University Mr. Harner has had five years experience in Physical Education and youth work. While at Westfield he increased the Indian Guide clubs from seven to 24 members as well as taking charge of other group and special interest clubs. He also directed the Day Camp at Westfield.

PICNIC SCHEDULED

By Princeton Eagles, Nassau Aerle No. 2732, Fraternal Order of Eagles, have announced that their annual picnic will be held on Sunday, August 28. The affair will be held on the grounds of the Sportsmen Club, River Road, between Kingston and Rocky Hill.

The picnic will include games and prizes for women and children. Norman Fowler, chairman of the affair, has announced that the picnic will begin at 12 noon.

JAYCEES CHOOSE JUDGES

For Yearly Horse Show, Wendel Smith, president of the Greater Pennington Jaycees, has announced that judges for the group's annual horse show have been selected. They are James G. Boxwell of Lancaster, Pa., and William J. K. O'Brien of Bayonne.

History: It's No. 55

No. 55 Stockton Street, Princeton, may never rank with 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, or 10 Downing Street, London but its present resident, Governor Robert B. Meyner, is doing his best to be well-remembered. In a forthright article in the current issue of Coronet magazine, wherein New Jersey's chief executive once again challenges the likes of Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York by insisting it is "the cruelest deception to create the impression that (bomb) shelters are an adequate defense," he has taken another giant step.

Governor Meyner's ideas on the subject are summarized in one thought-provoking paragraph: "A careful study of the probable nature of nuclear war has convinced me that these demands (for fallout shelters) do not fit the facts. There is only one way to assure the survival of 180,000,000 Americans. We must have peace. Not a cringing, cowardly 'peace at any price' as destructive to human spirit as the most devastating defeat; but a peace predicated on strength, dignity and reason. This is a dynamic peace for which we must make every resource at our command. And to achieve it, we must intensify the battle for control of nuclear weapons by an international agency."

Saturday, and Monday-Saturday, September 6-10.)

Friday, September 2
8:30-11:30 p.m.: High School

Topics Of The Town

this Sunday, at Sunny Acres Stables on Scotch Road, a half mile west of Pennington. Both judges, president Smith reported, are well-known and have high reputation in horse circles
throughout the mid-Atlantic region.

The show is the first of an annual series to be presented by the Pennington group. The show will include two rings with thirteen events in each. Trophies, ribbons and cash prizes will be awarded.

CAMPAIGN ORGANIZED

By Princeton Democrats, Edward Hofegang, president of the Princeton Democratic Club, this week announced the organization of the 1960 Princeton Democratic Campaign Committee. The goal of the newly-formed committee will be to seek all possible support for the national, state and local democratic candidates.

The Committee includes: Edward Sweeney, 181 North Harrison Street, coordinating director;
L. O. Houston Jr., 73 Harriet Drive, Borough Campaign Chairman; Gordon Waldron, 22 Wilson
Road, headquarters manager;
Miss Mary Perone, 241 Witherspoon
Street, and Mrs. Mary

Hunter vs. Farmer

Deer in the Princeton area will be better protected this year as the area will not be as well protected from deer. Rather than continue last season's open season, the Fish and Game Council has eliminated the antlerless deer season.

According to State Farm Bureau president Carlton E. Heritage, speaking for the farmers, who opposed the action, the decision will permit reducing the deer herd to "within reasonable bounds." He said that even last year's open season hardly dent the large herd found in the northern counties.

"Each year the howl will get louder from the urban landowners who are suffering damages in Morristown, Milltown, Summit and other places in Somerset, Essex, Morris, Hunterdon and Mercer counties," he said. He claimed the Council's action went against the opinion of State Fish and Game director Dr. Heaton Underhill.

This Is Princeton

statewide gasoline price war resulted in a two-day shutdown by local dealers, with a second shutdown unlikely because a third of New Jersey's 6,000 gas stations remained opened during the first — price cuts were running as high as 33 cents per gallon, but the heaviest loser was a Lawrence Township resident who was fined $50 for punching the owner after being refused service at a closed station.

Plans were instituted to form a joint defense council for the Borough and Township, duplicating similar steps taken just nine summers earlier... the summer recreation program, supervised by the same gentleman who is in charge in 1960. C. Edward Christian, concluded eight weeks of fun for 1,000 youngsters... Patrolman J. Sanford Hagadorn, who will become a 10 year man September 1, was appointed to the Borough police force... every fire engine in the community went rolling down Nassau Street one afternoon shortly after 5 o'clock to discover they were chasing a scrap material barge on the back of Norman Sassman's truck which has put out by the driver with a hand extinguisher borrowed from the Gerber Chevrolet Company.

The University Players stated their intention to present George Bernard Shaw's "The Shrike" commencing the following Tuesday, while the Princeton Summer Theatre, despite a premature finish at McCarter, promised to return in 1961. Walt Disney's initial full-length motion picture devoid of animated cartoon characters, "Treasure Island," was the current offering at the Playhouse and "Fanny," starring Diana Lynn, represented the standard summer fare being served at the Garden. In sports, a pair of forfeit victories over Monmouth Junction assured Tom Brophy's Princeton nine of a place in the Twin-M league playoffs. Richard Cope of Lawrenceville, now a Mercer County Freeholder, paced the Princeton club with a 395 batting average as it tied Hightstown for second place in the loop with a 19-9 regular season mark. Art Close and Miriam Brokaw won the town's mixed doubles tennis tournament by trimming Robert Shaw and Mrs. Robert Sullivan, 6-3, 3-6, 10-8.

Sweeney, 181 North Harrison Street, staffing headquarters; Mrs. Jane McGrath, 7 Chestnut Street, campaign publicity; Norman Sprague, 26 Bank Street, postmaster; Martin Beck, 20 Westcott Road, finance chairman; and Mrs. Ann Hofesang, 38 Erdman Avenue, absentee ballots.

Mr. Hofesang announced the committee's formation at a meeting of the Borough District Committee and women which had been called by Assemblyman Edward Sweeney. Mr. Hofesang stressed that the headquarters would serve democrats in both the Borough and Township. Mr. Sweeney, who has just returned from National Democratic Headquarters in Washington, D.C., said that 1960 would be a very close campaign year. He urged committeemen to work for a maximum Democratic vote in November.

Democratic Committeemen in Princeton Borough are: first district, J. Keene Fleck, 40 Edwards Place; second district, Richard A. Lester, 121 Broadmead; and Mrs. Barbara van de Velde, 222 Western Way, third district; Philip Carroll, 338 Nassau Street; and Mrs. Ellen McKevnia, 17 Fischer Avenue.

Also, fourth district, John F. Gallagher, 40 Chestnut Street; fifth district, James Dennen, 168 Nassau Street; and Mrs. Monica Ferrers, 42 Jefferson Road; sixth district, Leroy C. Bolden, 82 Clay Street; and Miss Mary Perone, 244 Witherspoon Street; seventh district, Wallace Holland Jr., 27 Jackson Street; and Miss Lillian Smith, 132 John Street; eighth district, Shaw Livermore, Jr., 26 South Stanworth Drive; and Mrs. Lorie Stein, 7 Greenholm.

At the meeting it was also announced the Democratic Club would soon rent office space and that the headquarters would begin operations after Labor Day. Interested citizens are encouraged to assist in the campaign and headquarters activity.

"BALLOON" SPONSORED

By Princeton Town Club. The Princeton Town Club will present its "Starlight Balloon" this Friday evening, at 8:30. The dance will be held on the roof of Bamberger's in the Shopping Center.

Soft drinks will be available. A donation of 50 cents for members and $1 for guests will be collected. The Town Club is an organization formed to enable young businessmen and women of the Princeton area an opportunity to become acquainted through activities like dances and out-of-door sports such as skiing, hiking and canoeing.

REHEARSALS BEGUN

To The Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

In view of the extremely favorable reviews received by the present University Players' production of "Kiss Me Kate" at Murray Theater, it seems appropriate to present a somewhat different view of the matter. This letter is not meant particularly to be a criticism of the University Players or of their production, which was technically commendable as stated in your review.

It is meant to be a commentary on the sad state of the American theater, which seems incapable of developing any theme for their tragedy or comedy except that of illicit sex relations. There are without doubt many worse examples than "Kiss Me Kate," but the lyrics of the present production are so loaded with adultery and fornication as to rob the play of any worthwhile comic effects.

From "Wine It Wealthily In Padua," to "Too Darn Hot," "Where is the Life that Late I Led," to "Faithful to you Darling in my Fashion," even to the potentially wonderful "Brush Up on Your Shakespeare," the lyrics festoon with monotonous regularity on the glory of adultery and fornication.

If this is the popular musical theme, it is the folklore of our day, is there any wonder that we find ourselves in an age of increasing moral decay? For one, was grievously disappointed at the waste of talent and music which characterizes this production of "Kiss Me Kate" and much of the rest of the American theater.

DR. MACHUP APPOINTED
To Two University Posts, Dr. Fritz Machup, a noted international economist, has been appointed to two key posts in Princeton University's Department of Economics. Appointment of Dr. Machup to the dual position was announced this week by Robert F. Golden, president of the University.

Dr. Machup will assume the Directorship of the International Finance Section, and has been named to the Walker Chair of Economics and International Finance. In the former post he succeeds Dr. Gardner Patterson, who relinquished the directorship in order to devote more time to his job as Director of the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, and to his

Search For Male Song

A contest aimed at finding a song for the state of New Jersey has been sponsored by a pair of businessmen from New Brunswick and Neptune City. The contest has been picking up support from a number of statewide organizations and from two state officials.

The New Jersey American Legion and the Daughters of the American Revolution have offered to supply judges for the contest, while Professor A. Conrad Kram, chairman of the music department at Douglass College, has agreed to help in the selection of the song. Several songs have already been received. Entries may be sent to the Gibbs Corporation of New Jersey, 315 Church Street, New Brunswick, or to the Neptune City Shopping Center, Route 35 and Third Avenue, Neptune.

position as Professor of Economics.

As Walker Professor, Dr. Machup succeeds Dr. Jacob Viner, who formally retired on July 1. A graduate of the University of Vienna, Dr. Machup spent two years as a Research Fellow with the Rockefeller Foundation and subsequently spent 12 years on the faculty of the University of Buffalo.

In 1917 he left the New York Institution to join the faculty at Johns Hopkins University, where he remained for 13 years until his dual appointment at Princeton. A former acting editor of the "American Economic Review," Dr. Machup has written extensively in the field of economics. The International Finance Section at Princeton University has conducted research in problems concerning the international financial affairs and policies of the United States. The Section has published the books and essays of persons who are not associated with Princeton.

TEA GARDEN BLOOMS

Cultivator: Edward Huey. This Thursday, opening day at the Princeton Tea Garden, 36 Witherspoon Street, should be a memorable one for regular patrons of the Chinese restaurant—and it undoubtedly will be the most memorable of all days to date for Edward Huey, proprietor of the Oriental eatery for the past three years. Mr. Huey, according to his own report, has been looking forward to the occasion for a long, long time.

"The first thing people do when they open a restaurant is to decorate it and put on a nice front," the owner explained, recalling 1957, the year he took over at the Princeton Tea Garden. "Instead of that, I installed the finest kitchen possible. On account of my cooking, I was able to increase my business. Now I am able to give my customers not only good cooking and good service but attractive furnishings and surroundings as well. For this I want to thank each and every one of my customers."

In the past several weeks, Mr. Huey's establishment has undergone a complete remodeling, inside and out. Inside, the lower half of all the walls has been covered with dark walnut wood paneling; the upper half has been covered with a white and gold-speckled paper. Chinese lantern-like fixtures have been suspended from the ceiling; and the seating capacity has been increased slightly to 70. Outside, a new wooden facing, including a six-foot by eight-foot picture window, has been installed.

"Give first and take later is my motto," Mr. Huey confided, by way of informing Princetonians why he was so insistent on providing good food and service before providing the restaurant with a sorely needed renovation job. "I'm very proud to say that we've been able to increase our business 50% in three years," he added.

On Menu: 100 Dishes. Open every day except Wednesday from 11 a.m. to 9:30 p.m., the "new" Princeton Tea Garden will boast a 100-dish menu, including among its 10 additions such delicacies as lobster with roast almonds and vegetable steamed stuffed lobster tails, and will feature special deluxe family dinners for two or more. The latter, comprised strictly of specialties of the house like Fong Wong egg roll (rather than ordinary old egg roll), will afford families the same high quality at lower cost.

"As far as our cooking goes," Mr. Huey stressed, "it's bonafide Chinese style—no half and half. For people who prefer the old-fashioned type of Chinese cooking (not bastardized to suit American tastes), the Witherspoon Street restaurant has steamed, fresh fish, steamed

ORIENTAL ORANGE AND BLACK: Edward Huey, owner-op. ator of the Princeton Tea Garden, stands in front of an attractive orange and black ornamental wall decoration, one of many signs of his renovated establishment. He has changed everything from frontage to tables and chairs. The business is slated to reopen at 11 a.m. this Thursday. (Staff Photo)

CARPET DOWN, RAILING NEAR-WROUGHT: Joseph Christian amiable owner of Lahiere's Restaurant at 7 Witherspoon Street, stands ready to serve his customers at the foot of the establishment's new, curved stairway next to the newly located downstairs bar. Thick, red carpeting adorns the stairs, but a promised white wrought-iron railing will not be needed until a number of upstairs attractions are completed, sometime next month. Lahiere's is now reopened after extensive remodeling. (Staff Photo) pork, beef, Moo Goo Gai pan (white chicken meat with mushrooms), sweet and pungent pork, etc., etc.

Having come to the United States from Canton in southern China in 1936, Mr. Huey for many years owned and operated an Oriental eatery in Far Rockaway, N.Y., which was four times larger than his present place of business. "But I decided to move to Princeton anyhow," he went on, "because, as far as I'm concerned, you can't beat Princeton in any way. It's a good place to raise a family. And people in Princeton are knowledgeable eaters and fine customers. People in Princeton know more about Chinese food than people anywhere else in America."

At the Princeton Tea Garden, Mr. Huey is the chef and he is aided in the kitchen by his wife, who is an excellent preparer of Chinese food in her own right. Their son, Tom, is charged with responsibilities in the front portion of the restaurant, which has six employees in all.

FIRM APPOINTED

By Film Library For Publicity, Frederick W. Bright, president of the Industrial Education Film Library, has announced that his company has appointed a public relations firm to represent his firm. The appointment was given to Joseph A. Dougherty Associates, Inc.

The Film Library, which serves industry and government both here and abroad, is being stocked with a variety of original audio-visual aids which provide cost reductions, increasing productivity and improved performance in industrial firms. Mr. Bright and his associates established the film library to meet the growing need of business people who require assistance in keeping abreast of latest developments designed to provide more efficient and economic operations.

In 1958 he received a Ph.D. from the same institution, and he has been associated since then with the School of Metallurgical Engineering at the University of Pennsylvania. In his new post with RCA, Dr. Liebman will be associated with the Physical and Chemical Research Laboratory.

TRAMPOLINES CALORE

Princeton May Get Some. That not-so-crazy craze which seems to have tickled California's collective funny bone—trampoline—has come to the Greater Trenton area, and Princeton proper may well be the next stop (or hop, if you prefer the trampoliners' vernacular). So says Donald Mancino, trampoline titan in nearby Ewing Township, who has been negotiating with Princeton Shopping Center officials to determine if he might rent ground and space and locate another bouncing center north of Bamberger's.

"Things are still very much up in the air," Mr. Mancino confided this week, finding it difficult to remove twists of the trampolinist's tongue from his speech. "Their rental figure is way up there, and I can't consider a Princeton project until they bring it back down to earth."

Mr. Mancino, pointing with pride to his brand-new outdoor facility at 1557 North Olden Avenue (nine miles from Princeton), said he intends to give Princetonians "only the best," if he ever receives approval of his

Guard in Mock War

Nearly 1,250 members of the New Jersey Air National Guard are currently engaged in a mock war. They are taking part in Exercise Bright Star/Fine Cone III, a maneuver which simulates combat conditions. The guardmembers' participation in the maneuver is concurrent with their annual two-week summer encampment.

McGuire Air Force Base is headquarters for 798 of the guardmembers, while the remaining 447 are stationed at the Air Guard base adjoining the Atlantic City Airport. All are working in support of the 25,000 troops on the maneuver's front line in the Fort Bragg, N.C., area. The purpose of the maneuver is to provide the troops with experience in operating in a limited-conflict situation.

The hypothetical war involves two mythical countries, located about 3,000 miles from the U.S. One is a satellite of "Aggressorland," the other has been an ally of the United States since the withdrawal of American World War II occupation forces. A border dispute between the neighboring countries steadily worsened until the aggressor invaded U.S. Air Guard, Air Reserve, Air Force and Army units have rushed in to defend our ally. Their aim is to push the aggressor forces back across the hypothetical border.

elaborate plans. Meanwhile, he urges those who haven't tried the fun at his plant to drive Trentonward and do so.

Thus far, proprietor Mancino's enterprise is composed of two prominent features: (1) Bounceland, where a staff of 22 well-trained supervisory staff (operator, hops) ready to provide free instruction at 20 trampolines (50 cents per half hour), and (2) Continued on Page 22

OF 6 APPEALS

For New Post Office. The Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce and Civic Council, supported by more than 20 merchants, research organizations and service companies in the Princeton area, has urged that a new post office be constructed in Princeton. Citing inadequate work areas and poor mail handling and delivery equipment as prime causes for delays in delivery of mail, the Chamber has sent a formal appeal to the Regional Director of the Post Office Department.

Postmaster Murray has advised the Chamber that the present post office, established to handle a population of 12,000, is currently handling a postal load equal to that of a population of 250,000. R. L. Lenhart, chairman of the Chamber's Post Office Committee, said the appeal points out that postal deficiencies have been worsening in the past 15 years.

In discussing the letters he, as chairman of the committee, had received from Chamber members, Mr. Lenhart said, "The findings of the Chamber members are unique in that they reveal opinions that all of the deficiencies are in outmoded, congested working areas and lack of proper mail-handling equipment. Without exception, all letters pay marked tribute to present post office personnel for outstanding service in spite of the almost insurmountable work load."

PIPELINE FOR THE PRESS: What appears to be a barricade erected across Diden Street (top picture) is the excavation dirt from a trench dug for the installation of a water line (bottom picture) to the Princeton University Press. One block long, the new line was needed to brood the dangerously low water pressure at the Press and thereby insure the operation of its sprinkler system.

SEMINAR BEGINS

For Naval Reservists, A two-week seminar concerned with the problems of research planning and management began Monday for members of the Naval Reserve Research Company #1, a New Jersey unit headed by Commander Charles W. Logan, USN, of Edinboro. Jointly sponsored by the University and the Office of Naval Research, the seminar is being conducted at the Princeton Graduate College.

High-level business executives, armed services personnel and research scientists are scheduled to address the group of 70 Reserve Officers who are attending the seminar. Speakers at the first day's session included James H. Wakelin, Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Research and Development; Brig. General William J. Ely, USA, Director of Army Research; and Courland D. Perkins, Assistant Secretary of the Air Force for Research and Development.

"Home-Research: Care and Feeding" was the subject of an address Tuesday by Dr. Jack Dunlap, chairman of the Board of President of Dunlap and Associates, Inc., Stamford, Conn. Dr. George Webb, Director of Administration for the Mellon Institute of Pittsburgh will speak to the group on Friday; his topic will be "Coordinated Research Planning."

Other major speakers and the dates of their addresses include: Dr. James Hillier Vice President of R.C.A. Laboratories at the David Sarnoff Research Center on Route 1, August 29; Dr. John Wallace, Jr., Administrative Director of the James Forrestal Research Center, August 31; and Dr. Ira H. Abbott, Director of Advanced Research Programming, National Aeronautics and Space Administration, September 1.

LAWRENCE DEMS TO MEET

On Mobile Registration Drive. Successful completion of the mobile registration campaign in Lawrence Township will be the principle topic of discussion at Thursday's meeting of the township's Democratic Club. The four democratic candidates for township office will be present at the confab, which will be held at the Lawrence Road Firehouse at 8:30 p.m.

The four candidates are Samuel DeGasperis and William Hunter, township committee; Peter J. Russo, assessor; and Marie B. Loveless, clerk. All four candidates are actively participating in the registration drive and have urged non-registered voters to register as soon as possible.

In a joint statement, the four candidates emphasized the importance of the county mobilization which will make two additional visits to Lawrence Township. "Since many new residents are coming into the township," the statement declared, "the mobile registration drive has added meaning this year to Lawrence township. While all elections are important, 1960 is a year of major significance, with candidates on the ballot for President and Vice-President, U.S. Senate, House of Representatives, County Clerk, Board of Freeholders, —Continued on Page 20

PEOPLE In The News

Maurice P. Coffee Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice P. Coffee of Green Avenue, Lawrenceville, will become a member of the American College of Hospital Administrators as the organization's meeting in San Francisco this Sunday. A former Lawrenceville resident and a graduate of Princeton High School, Mr. Coffee is presently serving as assistant administrator of Shady-side Hospital in Pittsburgh.

Karolyn J. Snyder of 70 East Prospect Street, Hopewell, earned a bachelor of arts degree in Bible last Friday at the 27th annual summer convocation of Wharton College in Illinois. A transfer student from Bob Jones University, Miss Snyder was one of 43 undergraduate candidates presented for degrees.

Mrs. Allen E. Trudel of 549 State Road has been appointed a part-time instructor in French at Douglass College, women's division of the State University, while Bernard Smith of 57 Randall Road has been named a teaching assistant in psychology in the Rutgers University College of Arts and Sciences. Mrs. Trudel, the former Michele Marechal was a writer-speaker for NBC for two years after taking her bachelor's degree at Swarthmore College, then became a radio reporter for the Voice of America in 1967. Mr. Smith, an alumnus of Princeton University, served with the Army Signal Corps for two years and was an engineer with Onitite Company for another two before entering the teaching profession.

A technician at Princeton University for the past year and an instructor at Hun School from 1957 to 1958, Robert A. DiCarlo of Ridge Road, Monmouth Junction, has been named a part-time teaching assistant in physics at Douglass College. Mr. DiCarlo won his bachelor's degree from Brown University and also attended Harvard University.

The University of Pennsylvania has awarded scholarships to two incoming freshmen in the Princeton area as part of its $2,000,000 student aid program. They are Patrick F. Brennan, Roosevelt Road, and Howard M. Bushnell, River Road, Belle Mead. Mr. Brennan, who graduated from the Lawrenceville School, will enter the College of Arts and Sciences. A graduate of the Choate School, Mr. Bushnell will attend the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce.

Peter G. Scolese, 277 Snowden Lane, has been named general manager of the finished goods division of Indian Head Mills Inc. Formerly vice-president and general sales and advertising manager of the division, he is a graduate of Girard College and the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School. He recently completed Harvard Business School's advanced management program.

A graduate of Vassar College with the class of 1959, she gained her master's degree and doctorate from Radcliffe College. She is a member of the American Mathematical Society, the Mathematics Association of America and Phi Beta Kappa.

Dr. William Waretz, 47 Park Place, gave one of the 300 lectures at the International Geographical Congress, held in Stockholm. His topics was "Geographical Distribution of Income in the United States." Dr. Waretz is a research associate with Princeton University and the American geographical Society in New York City.

Frank Cooper, manager, Agricultural Center Services of the American Cyanamid Company in Princeton, has been appointed to the Agriculture Department Committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Made up of representatives from all the major agricultural areas of the country, the Committee advises the Chamber on policies and work of its Agricultural Department.

Accepted for admission to Rutgers School of Law's Newark Division is J. Ross Bevis of 2535 Main Street, Lawrenceville. Bevis is a graduate of Colgate College.

A member of the New Jersey National Guard Team, SFC Thomas J. Cavanaugh of Princeton will take part in the 11-day National Pistol & Rifle Matches held at Camp Perry, Ohio. Only the most highly qualified marksmen from the nation—about 3000 shooters—are chosen to compete in the National Matches, often called the "World Series of Marksmanship."

and the four township posts." The candidates for the Lawrence positions have pledged their "wholehearted and continuing aid" to the mobile registration drive. The mobile units will visit Lawrence township on Tuesday, August 30 at the Lawrenceville Firehouse, and on Wednesday, August 31 at the Lawrence Road Firehouse.

In addition, registration will be held at the county clerk's office, Mercer County Court House on Saturday morning, September 24, from 10 a.m. to noon and from Monday, September 26, through Thursday, the 29th, from 8 to 8:30 p.m. Deadline for registration is September 29.

Lawrence Township residents may also register for voting at the township clerk's office, 2207 Lawrenceville Road, c.h. day until September 25, Monday through Friday. Office hours are 9 to 4. In an announcement last week, the Lawrence Township Democratic Club officers named Candidates DeGasperis, Hunter, Russo and Lovelace as honorary chairmen of the club's annual outing, which is scheduled for Sunday, September 18, at Colville's Grove. Theodore A. Cunniff, general chairman of the outing, will name his full committee at Thursday's meeting.

JAYCEES SPONSOR PICNIC

For Neuro-Psychiatric Youth. Forty-five children from the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute were treated to a picnic last week, when the Princeton Junior Chamber of Commerce, in conjunction with several merchants who donated food and toys, sponsored its annual outing on the Institute grounds. Seven members of the Princeton Jaycee group attended the affair, which included sports activities for the Institute youngsters.

Bambergers, the Ivy League

Bakery, Nills Bakery and the Ball Bakery all donated cookies, doughnuts, and hot dog rolls free of charge, while toys were sold to the Jaycees at a discount by the Princeton Shopping Center Stationers, and the Union-Op of Trenton. The three hour picnic, which began at 2:00 p.m., included tug of war games, a balloon hunt, baseball, and the presenting of toys to the youngsters.

Attending on behalf of the sponsoring group were Jim Dawson, John Ehman, Don Kreuz, Rick Mathews and his bride-to-be Miss Marlene Gibbs, Walt Morgan, John Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. Len Stonaker. Eight students from the Institute also attended the affair.

TO HOLD GLADIOLUS SHOW

In New Hope. The New Hope Historical Society has announced that it will sponsor a gladiolus show, presented by the Delaware Valley Gladiolus Society, in the Perry Barn on Saturday, August 27. The Barn is located adjacent to the Bucks County Playhouse. Featuring recent introductions and new seedlings, the show will include a display of colorful blooms that have never before been shown. Because the Bucks County Crafts Show, now housed in the Perry Barn, will continue through September 5, the visitor on August 27 will get "two for one."

The Gladiolus Show will be open to the public from 1 through 9 p.m. on Saturday. All who attend will be eligible for the free offer by the Delaware Valley Society, which offers new bulbs as a promotional gift.

SCHOOLS TO OPEN

For Registration On Sept. 1. Seven Franklin Township schools will be open for registration on September 1 at 11 a.m. for all kindergarten children who have not yet been registered. They are the schools at Elizabeth Avenue, Pine Grove Manor, Hillcrest, Hamilton, Middlebush, Phillips and Kingston.

According to an announcement by Sampson G. Smith, Franklin Township Superintendent of Schools, children may be registered in the central office in Pine Grove Manor any day previous to September 1 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Children from grades one through 12 may register at the central office or in any school in the district at the time noted above.

All parents should register their children as soon as possible, Mr. Sampson urged. He said this would avoid difficulties in changes in classrooms. The superintendent said he expected about 3300 children to register for the grammar school grades, and approximately 775 high school registrations.

IDA LIVES HERE: Although the paving and landscaping isn't completed, the Institute for Defense Analysis has already moved into its new 20,000 square-foot home between Nassau Street and Prospect Avenue just off Murray Place. When everything is finished, the University-supplied building will have a parking lot for 50 cars and a bicycle rack. (The latter item was not originally planned but became necessary with as more and more mathematicians showed up on bicycles.) It will have an entrance from Nassau Street and both an entrance and exit to Prospect Avenue. (Staff Photo)

SCIENCE In Princeton

IDA CHANGES QUARTERS
Occupies New Building. The Institute for Defense Analysis, a top-level mathematical research group, has moved into its new 20,000 square foot building adjoining University Field. Supplied by Princeton University, the structure will provide more space than was available in the organization's former quarters at 76½ Nassau Street.

The building, comprising two wings joined by a foyer, is located in the center of the block bounded by Nassau Street, Murray Place, Prospect Avenue and Olden Avenue. In the office wing, which will be under security at all times, are 21 single offices, two conference rooms, three executive offices and three stenographic areas. The other wing, which will be open or closed depending on the type of work being done there, houses the library, lounge, lecture hall and computer.

Under a 10-year operating contract, the University will supply IDA with the $375,000 building in return for an annual payment and use of the organization's computer for 20 hours a week. The $1,250,000 machine, which is far larger than the computer presently used by the University, is in the basement of the new building.

IDA is a private non-profit organization created especially to do basic research under government contracts. In addition to the Princeton group, which is the communications research division, the organization has three branches in Washington, D.C., and one in Cambridge, Mass.

The communications research division is doing highly theoretical work on basic communications problems. It was established in 1958 and moved to Princeton last summer to take advantage of the University's mathematics department and the Institute for Advanced Study.

Although the Princeton group presently has a staff of only about 30, its plans to increase this number to 50 or 60 now that it has more space available. Dr. J. Barkley Rosser of Cornell University is serving as director of the group, with Dr. Richard A. Leibler as deputy director.

19th Hole Golf Driving Range, which boasts 33 automatic tees and a 300-yard range for golfing enthusiasts. Both units may be utilized from 9 a.m. to 1 a.m. seven days a week.

Mr. Mancino stressed that he has set up the strictest sort of regulations at Bounceland. Each would-be bouncer is asked if he (or she) has previously jumped on a trampoline and, if not, free instruction becomes a "must." All trampolines are well-padded, and their supporting frames have been installed in the ground to eliminate unnecessary height. A new safety belt is employed when experienced performers attempt advanced exercises.

There will be many more additions to "Bounceland" before the facility is completed, the owner promised. Already under way is a large public swimming pool, while a miniature golf course will be constructed on the ample acreage in the near future. There are a few attractions for the smaller fry, and edible goodies for fry of all ages, according to Mr. Mancino, and "we haven't stopped expanding by a long shot."

An Italian alabaster cigarette box about eight inches long, with a brown elephant and a palm tree let into its white surface in mosaic pattern.

For your favorite bride, buy a pair of Baccarat crystal decanters, long and deeply beveled and shaped rather like elongated teardrops. The cut is so deep that the pieces reflect light like prisms.

Shelley porcelain wishes you "good morning" with Regency, a white bone china breakfast set trimmed chushty with gold, and shaped with flutes and scallops. You'll have an egg cup, covered cereal, toast plate, small pot, uncovered sugar, creamer and cup and saucer.

FOR BRIDE OR BALL

Gowns for Fall. The deep, rich shades of autumn replace summer's frivolities at The French Shop, 20 Nassau, where there are two splendid junior dresses that could be used for bridesmaids dresses or for ball gowns. One of them is short, made of velvet with a gathered skirt, "U" neckline front and back and little sleeves that look like tiny puffs but are really short sleeves pulled up in a tuck. A flat satin bow marks the front of the waistline. Choose from 14 colors, including black and white.

The second dress is a long formal sweep of tulle, caught up at the skirt back with three flat self roses. The dress is strapless, but may be converted by wearing a detachable pleated fichu with a flat rose in front. This gown comes in eight colors.

Mothers, at fall weddings, will wear velvet clip hats, fashioned in two tones of the same color. One has a satin-finish smoky blue velvet frame covered with ivy leaves in ombre shades of blue and green. The veil is smoky blue. Another is a clip made of two tones of any shade you like.

Cottons for fall look like vintage pressings from a winery, with deep shades of grape, lilac, wine purple and purplish copper predominating, in fact, one striped cotton shirtwaist at The French Shop combines all those shades. A sweater dress sticks to one or the other (choose from lilac or blue-purple) and offers you a bulky knit, without buttons or collar, laced down the front with a tie print in which the solid color stands out above the rest. The print repeats in a belt.

Italian wool knits are straight, usually, with a slight fullness at the waist achieved by two soft pleats at each side. One has a cordigan neckline and another has a jewel neckline. They come in olive or slate blue.

Juniors will like the junior knits and the grey, black or mink wool dress with its "Persian lamb" (well, not really) clipped jacket.

A 964 INTERROGATION: Confronted with the interesting possibility of being able to bring one person back to life for the purpose of asking one question, Miss Peggy Coyle (left) and Miss Monica Argue, two Irish colleens, would each direct her question to a hero of Ireland. For the choices and question of other area residents, see below.

Question of the Week

Question: If you could bring one person back to life to ask a question of, who would it be and what would you ask him?

Where asked: Palmer Square.
Arthur Santoro, 410 Nassau Street, musician: Jesus Christ. I believe in the after-life, but I would like to hear His clarification and explanation of what it is. We have it from the prophets, the apostles and Revelations, but it is colored by their own personalities. I would like to have it direct from Christ.

Miss Peggy Coyle, 1 Bayard Lane, waitress: I'd like to bring back St. Patrick and ask him, "Where did he go when he left Ireland the first time?" This has never been satisfactorily answered.

Miss Monica Argue, 44 Chestnut Street, Notre Dame High School student: I'd like to ask Kevin Barry, a famous Irish soldier killed when he was 18, what he would think of his native Ireland if he were alive today.

James Tholom, Bordentown, counselor for Princeton Hearing Center on Nassau Street: Abraham Lincoln. I'd ask him how true our history really is regarding him. There is so much attributed to him—how much of it is really factual?

Mrs. Richard Bergman, 165 Valley Road, housewife: Socrates. He had such a way of finding the truth beneath superficialities and illogic, something that seems to cover everything today. He would be a good man to get to the root of things. I don't feel you could ask him a specific question. He didn't answer questions, but asked them and by asking he got to the truth. He revealed your prejudices for what they really were — untruths.

James Oliver, 57 Hardwick Drive, Trenton, driver for Sullivan Furniture: I'd bring FDR back and ask him for a few more details on the cause of the conflict between Japan and the United States.

There's been a lot of controversy over what brought about the war with Japan and I'd like to hear his side of it.

Mrs. Fred Herald, 252 Fisher Place, housewife: I would like to question Richard II and ask him if he were really responsible for all those atrocious crimes attributed to him.

Thomas Nind, Nassau Inn, engineer: I would like to find out from Shakespeare what he thinks of the various interpretations that have been made of his works, particularly the psychological interpretations. Does he think people are reading too much into his works and plays?

Mrs. Elsa Naumann, 100 Gulick Road, housewife: I would enjoy a conversation with Mr. Savonarola. I'd ask him about corruption in high places.

Max Browning, 35 Dawson Road, manager of P.J. Wainford-Napoleoni. Does he believe that his social reforms in France have had the impact on society that he wanted?

Mrs. Mary Nicholas, 24 Manning Lane, Lawrenceville, housewife: I'd like to bring Abraham Lincoln back and ask him if the treatment of the colored people today would shock and disturb him?

Jack P. Cady, Bound Brook, advertising manager of the Central Post: I would like to get from Franklin Roosevelt a complete rundown as to why the U.S. forces in Germany held off from occupying Berlin. Why did we wait and let the Russians take it?

Miss Freddie Dudley, a high school student from Houston, Texas, visiting Princeton, her former home town: I'd like to have a talk with Robert Browning who I consider to be one of the greatest poets. I would ask him now he was able to put into such beautiful words things that I feel but which I myself would never be able to capture so poetically.

Moses Septhula, 123 1/2 John Street, a student studying sacred music at Westminster Choir College: Jesus Christ. I'd like to ask Him what is His plan for my — Continued on Page 24

Report from THE MAYOR

An Endorsement. At the special meeting of Mayor and Council last week, formal action was taken to assist the Princeton United Community Fund through approval of a number of requests submitted by Fund president Fred M. Bliecher. Though the campaign to raise $250,000 for 18 agencies will officially start September 15, the governing body has already voted its endorsement of the effort in behalf of these vital health, welfare and recreational services. Hundreds of citizens will be offering their services in the campaign. Their success is important to the continued demonstration of the concern in the community for making Princeton an ever finer place to live and to work.

A Reminder. E. P. Rouchard, District Director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, has forwarded to each mayor a copy of President Eisenhower's recommendation designating September 17, 1960 as Citizenship Day. The date marks the anniversary of the signing of the Constitution of the United States on September 17, 1787. The President, noting that in addition to the newly naturalized citizens there are two and a half million young Americans who reach voting age this year, has urged local officials as well as all religious, civic, educational and other organizations to devote some time to the study of the oldest and most tested written constitution in the world.

Community Renewal. Many local officials throughout New Jersey are studying the announcement by the State Planning Bureau of Federal financial assistance available to municipalities for the preparation of community renewal programs under Section 101 of the Housing Act of 1949. Such programs are to be municipality-wide in scope. Their basic purpose will be to identify and measure, in broad terms, the total need for urban renewal action in the community and to develop a long-range program for urban renewal action. Their aim will be to plan local action in connection with our master plan, workable program, capital improvement program, prospects for new development, and major highway and street programs.

Step By Step. The recommendations contained in master plans are stated generally and comprehensively. When local officials begin the process of implementing them, they need knifed and specific project recommendations. The lack of this is a big reason why many master plans are completed, adopted and then all but forgotten in the day-to-day operations of local government. The step by step working out of the municipal program involves technical problems, and it would seem logical to retain the services of the consultant plan in helping to translate the plan to action based on carefully considered priorities.

Thursday Open House. The regular weekly "Tell it to the Mayor" sessions are scheduled for Thursday, August 25, and Thursday, September 1, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings. The Mayor also looks ahead on the calendar to an opportunity to meet with the full membership of the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce on September 7.

life and whether, when people look at me, they could see Christ in my life?

Mrs. Irene Banquet, Columbia Boychoir School, headmaster's wife: Doctor Charles Erdman, I have no specific questions. I'd just like to have an inspirational conversation with him. I used to love to hear him talk when he would reminisce about the past.

Bennie Bruwa, Princeton Avenue, Rocky Hill, hater: I would like to ask Christ why there isn't more justice and peace in the world instead of so much treachery and misunderstanding.

Mrs. Minna Rosen, 181 Harrison Street, psychiatric social worker for the Hunterdon Medical Center: Einstein. What would he prescribe to make this a less chaotic world? Is there a chance of people learning to live together peacefully?

Alan Richards, Kingston Road, photographer: Abraham Lincoln. I would ask Mr. Lincoln, in view of all he did for the Negroes, what he thinks about the "civil rights program in this country today? I would also like to know what he would have said to Mr. Khrushchev if he were in the same position Eisenhower was over the U-2 incident. Would he have apologized?

Miss Sally Green, Santa Fe, N.M., inventor: I would like to bring back Thomas Edison who is sort of a hero to me. I've invented a thing called Ghost Heat and I would like to ask Edison some questions about electronics. I have one of Edison's own notebooks in which he records all his reactions to his experiments day by day. It is the most perfect way to see the mind of a genius at work.

Edward Gallagher, Lower Makefield, Pa., sales manager for Lahiere-Kane: I would like to ask Franklin Roosevelt what he thinks of the world situation today. I believe that he was a competent and eloquent leader and that he might have some good answers to the world's problems.

SPORTS In Princeton

PHS FOOTBALL, OUTLOOK-II

(This is the second of two articles on Princeton High School's football prospects for the 1960 season.)

Guided Muscles Needed. This being a year for unpredictable experiments, what with the long-hairs at Cape Canaveral and in Moscow worrying about the influences of speed and light and aiming sky-high, Joe Jingoli, chief scientist at Princeton High School's football launching pad, has decided to try some of the same. During the months ahead, he will experiment with such unpredictables as the transfer of a left-handed wingback to the all-important single-wing tailback slot and, in turn, the installation of a left-side shift, since his leading quarterback contender is also a southwaver.

And, incidentally, Jingoli—aiming as sky-high as the brains in Florida and Russia—will be mightily concerned with the speed and light factors. His boys, 1960 models, are reportedly speedy—and light.

The key to his success as an experimenter, Jingoli admits, will be the move of Co-Captain Russ Perone, a swift runner with great pass-catching ability, from wingback, where he put his talents to full use last year, to tailback, where Perone, an untested passer and punter, must pass and punt as well as run. Jingoli has tremendous faith in the 155-pound sprinter, who led the Little Tiger scoring parade in 1959 with eight touchdowns, and he believes the co-captain, "with his splendid desire," will learn the triple-threat business in short order.

Assuming Perone produces as expected, Jingoli feels he has the makings of a well-balanced backfield with lettermen Howard Goult (200) at fullback and Ray Chibbaro (135) at quarter and former JV speedster Ernie Hunt at the wing post. Stiff competition should be offered by letterman Alan Wood, son of Dick Wood, the team's offensive strategist, at fullback and such ex-junior varsity luminaries as Gil Fisher at tailback, Ron Decker at quarter and Bill Lewis at the No. 1 back.

There will be other runners to consider, too, including seniors Jamie Jones and Pete Cossman and juniors Chuck Pemberton, Don Zuber, Ray Burnett, Roger Slayback, John Corcoran and Tom Olsen. What this season's sophomore crop will bring at harvest time is still in doubt, but Jingoli naturally hopes for fruitful results.

Questions mark Up Front. PHS, which operates its version of the single-wing on a two-platoon basis, will have a wealth of candidates for the line assignments, but there will be a shortage of experience and beef, compared with 1959's forwards. Generally speaking, the offensive line will require much rebuilding work. In particular, the center and tackle positions—with only one letterman returning to fill the six holes (figuring three on offense, three on defense)—will cause the head coach and his associates their primary concern. Harvey Clark, a 180-pound tackle, is the lone letter-wearer mentioned, and he will have his hands full. The Blue and White coaching staff has an idea he will need considerable help from the likes of seniors Bill Wilson, Joel Knoelmayer, Sig Peterson and Tony Stefaneli and juniors Joe Cox, Bob Schwenker and Al Altieri, all lockies, and seniors John Dalia Pezza and Russ Eldridge and junior Tommy Voltz, center hopefuls.

The Little Tiger situation at the guard posts will be somewhat better, since the right side is manned by Co-Captain Dave Smith, a 185-pound dynamo, and fellow seniors Toiva Pihl and Mike Steele, while the left side is equipped with lettermen Norman Gaskins and Miles Truesdell and junior prospects Bob Copeland and Don Opdycke. Just 10 years ago, by the way, Smith's brother, Tom, co-captained an unbeaten Princeton High eleven—one of Jingoli's top clubs—and Smith looks for history to repeat. At the end positions, which were so well-endowed a campaign back, there will be good potential, with time required to see if it can develop. Lettermen Joe Beacheil, a rugged blocker on the right flank, and Lamont Fletcher and Jim Harbour, a pair of beanpoles on the left side, will form the nucleus of this make-or-break contingent. Others counted on for heavy duty include senior Art Ridler and juniors Gary Mount and Sam Spangenberg behind Beacheil and juniors Don Truesdell and Bob Gingen behind Fletcher and Harbour.

Plenty of Experience Here. Jingoli will have no problem in one department—coaching. In addition to Wood, who is commencing his 15th year in grid association with the head mentor, the Little Tigers will boast Gerry Groninger, on hand for his ninth campaign as defensive coordinator; Tony Borzok, starting his eighth season as frosh coach; and George Povillaitis, a six-year man who triple-threats as end coach, JV boss and liaison between the junior varsity and freshman ranks.

While PHIS has a question-mark line, which may average as little as 175 pounds from end to end, and a number of other pre-season puzzlers, it also faces a challenging 1960 schedule as the Little Tigers seek to retain their Mercer County title. Mount Holly and Somerville will be among the misadventures to fight South Jersey and Group 4 wars, respectively—but Peddle will be back, representing a tough opener, and the rest of a demanding seven-game slate will include intracounty rivals Trenton High, Trenton Catholic and Edwin plus shoreward opponents Freehold, Long Branch and Leonardo.

Perone, who has been sparking "informal" practice sessions with Smith for the past 10 days, was contacted this week by TOWN Topics and asked how he regards —Continued on Page 26

his team's chances for '60. He commented, "It's too early to tell, because we haven't scrimmaged or had any coaching yet." He said he and Smith are encouraged by the turnout of some 35 seniors and juniors for the "informal" session, adding that he hopes they'll enjoy "good fortune."

Jrall indicated he would be happy with a sequel to last year's 5-2-1 performance, though it's difficult for him to predict in view of his unpredictable experimentation. Of only two things is he absolutely certain at this juncture: (1) compulsory physical examinations for all varsity candidates will begin at 8:30 a.m. September 1 in the DHS nurse's office and (2) the initial "official" practice will take place immediately thereafter.

"IMPOSSIBLE" HAPPENS
Three-Way Tie for First. The "impossible" happened this week, as it so often does in the world of sport, and three of the Tri-County Basketball League's four teams finished the regular 1960 season in a three-way deadlock for first place. Only the Princeton Athletic Club's sub-par record (3-12), plus some amazing eleventh-hour developments, permitted the unprecedented wind-up.

Montgomery Township, winner of last year's crown appeared certain of the No. 1 spot this year, too, but somehow managed to drop both of its final-week replay games—one to South Brunswick, the other to Hightstown. As a result, all three of these clubs concluded their regular campaigns with identical 3-8 marks.

Thinking a three-way tie remotely possible, but never dreaming it would actually occur, loop officials originally had announced special playoff plans—just in case. Now, they have decided merely to proceed with the usual post-season playoffs, figuring that these series can determine a couple of matters instead of one.

By the luck of the draw, the young PAC entry—led by Notre Dame University junior Steve Hogarty of the ball-playing Princeton Hogarty—has picked Montgomery as its foe in a best-of-three set. This might be considered bad luck rather than good by some observers, in view of Montgomery's prowess a year back and in the early stages of this year's flag race, but the PAC has been building up steam of late while Manager Ted Lubas' team has been hampered by injuries to two key performers, the call to arms for another and the departure of Mike Sandusky, star catcher, for the Pittsburgh Steelers' pro football workouts.

Princeton, hoping for an upset showing which would stifle the trio of Tri-County front-runners, was scheduled to meet Montgomery away this Tuesday evening and at Princeton High School this Wednesday evening. Meanwhile, South Brunswick, paced by Dartmouth's all-eastern outfielder, Dan Cio of Deans, and newcomer Hightstown, sparked by 18-year-old shortstop Roland Trudon Jr. of Hightstown High fame, were locked in the start of a similar best-of-three series.

The eventual winners of this week's two series will commence a final series next week to determine the exclusive occupant of first place in the league.

Several hundred archers from all sections of New Jersey are expected to lead off with some 100,000 arrows when the annual championships of the State Field Archery Association of New Jersey are held on August 27 and 28.

The event will be held on the 56-target course of the George Bowmer's Association on Westbrook Road, Macopin. According to C. Harry De Kockleers, S.F.A.A. Commissioner, field archery, one of the fastest growing sports in the country now has four million followers.

"CINDERELLA" TEAM

From Last to First in Year. The Princeton Water Company entry in the YMCA Junior League, a last-place finisher in 1959, has completed the current season with a remarkable 9-2-0 record and top-spot honors. Curiously, Nassau Oil, the loop's No. 1 club a year ago, has replaced PWC as the basement occupant. By way of proving their right to the '60 crown, members of the water company team defeated a group of All-Stars, the pick of the other three representatives in the league, this past week. Vince McCord hurled the victors to their win by a 5-2 score.

News Of The CHURCHES

NEW MUSIC MINISTER

At Second Presbyterian, Vernon Boushell, a graduate student at Westminster Choir College, has been appointed Minister of Music at the Second Presbyterian Church. He replaces David S. York, who is on a leave of absence at the University of Indiana.

Prior to coming to Princeton for graduate study, Mr. Boushell was manager of the Atlas Project Administration Group of RCA's Missile Division in Moorestown. He was also director of the Bendix Aviation Clee Club; tenor soloist with the Amato Opera Company, the Stevens Institute of Technology Glee Club; and soloist at the Central Reformed Church of Jersey City. Mr. Boushell obtained a Bachelor of Arts degree from New York University in 1960. While serving as music minister at the Second Church he will continue as teacher of choral and instrumental music at the Jamesburg State Home for Boys.

RABBI APPOINTED

To Lead Kenilth Park Group, Rabbi Eliezer Smolar has been appointed the new leader of the Temple Beth Shalom congregation. A senior at the Jewish Institute of Religion Union of American Hebrew congress, New York City, he replaces Rabbi Erwin Frenkel, who resigned to accept a teaching post in Israel. The new Rabbi will assume regular charge of the congregation next month. In addition to leading services, he will serve as principal of the Hebrew and Sunday Schools at the Jewish Community Center.

Rabbi Smolar received his Bachelor of Arts degree in Hebrew literature from the Hebrew Union College and a Master's degree from the Jewish Community Center. An author of several Jewish plays for children, he has been teaching Hebrew language and Jewish culture in schools in New York City for the past eight years.

BULLETIN NOTES

The Junior High Westminster Fellowship of the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church will hold a barbeque supper from 5 to 8 p.m. next Thursday at the home of Lona Hansen, Federal City Road.

Members of the Board of Directors of the Women's Group of the Jewish Community Center will meet at 8:30 p.m. next Monday at the home of Mrs. Carl Altman, 41 Constable Road, Franklin Park. Plans for the coming season will be discussed.

LINES DRAWN

Plainsboro vs. Sportsmen. Despite upset defeats in the first games of their semi-final and open round, Plainsboro and the Sportsmen's Club bounced back in typically fine fashion to earn the right to meet each other in the climactic series of the 1960 Men's Softball League. It was expected that the two clubs, which finished in a dead heat during the regular season, would launch their best-of-five showdown before week's end.

Uphill battles were necessary for both finalists to get where they are today. Plainsboro, beaten by Green Gables in the opening contest of the semi-final round, turned the trick with two consecutive shutouts won over the challenging Nine. The Sportsmen, however, Sammons' in the opener, revitalized by triumphing last Thursday, 7-2, and this Tuesday, 4-0.

For Plainsboro, it was stand-out pitching by Russ Watson and

Princetonians True PALS

Trenton's red-hot PAL baseball club, which swung into action in the 28th National Baseball Congress championship in Wichita this Wednesday's evening, has joined the elite 32 finalists for tough double-elimination competition due to fine "team" play, featuring a definite Princeton flavor. Joe Burns, former TJC pitcher, and Elmer Naples, current Grange and Black catcher, have formed an effective battery for the PALS, who recently became New Jersey's semi-pro champions and removed New York's winners from contention with two quick victories.

Not to be overlooked in mentioning prominent Princetonians in the Trenton cast is Bob Montgomery, veteran rightfielder who is still remembered for his top-notch performance while coveting for Princeton High, then Pennington Prep. A sometime member of both the Yankees and Philly farm systems and a star with the TJC Club semi-pro team last year, Montgomery earned MVP accolades in the New York series by tossing a perfect 9-0 to the plate for a game-saving double play.

Butch Chambers—spectacular hurlers all summer—that meant the difference this past week. Each was responsible for tossing a one-hitter in the series, the latter giving up only a scratch safety in the sixth inning of the finale with Green Gables on Tuesday.

Harry Kahny, the Sportsmen's mound ace when the team last week pitched a pair of four-hitters to account for his club's success. In the 7-2 victory, Jack Peterson drove in four runs with a single, triple and home run.

TENNIS TOURNAY

For Princeton Juniors. Beginning at 9 a.m. next Monday, and continuing daily through Friday, September 2, the N.Y.-N.M.A.A. will sponsor a round-robin tennis tournament, open to all Princeton youngsters, on the new Princeton University courts near Baker Rink. Participants, asked to bring their own marked tennis balls, will be charged a nominal entrance fee of 25 cents.

According to Mrs. Lewis S. Kraft, 'Y' tennis instructor and secretary of the club, he is interested in registering for the tourney - including first-year players - should contact the 'Y' office at 7-4-8250 by Saturday of this week. Some 50-plus boys and girls already have signed up for the event.

ENGINE NO. 3 COPS TITLE

In Police Youth League, Engine No. 3 captured the championship in the Police Youth League by beating Post 76 two games to none in their three-game playoff series. The scores were, 13-2 and 4-0.

Albie Toto, who has been thought to beat, then tossed a four-hit shutout at Post 76 to help the 4-0 and enable his teammates to win the title. Ralph Proccella, manager of the Police League, presented trophies to the champions.
